FOR RELEASE:

Scholle IPN Announces Appointment of Ross Bushnell as New President and CEO

NORTHLAKE, IL, OCTOBER 8, 2019 – Scholle IPN, a leading global supplier of flexible packaging solutions, has announced the appointment of Ross Bushnell as their new President and CEO.

Cliff Scholle, Chairman of Scholle IPN, noted of Mr. Bushnell’s appointment, “Ross’s deep experience with market development, smart manufacturing processes, and profitable management of key accounts will play a crucial role in adapting our distinct technologies to the changing packaging landscape within a growing circular economy.”

Mr. Bushnell has 15 years of experience leading global packaging businesses as diverse as Silgan, Mondi and Sonoco Products. Throughout his career, he has helped companies streamline and optimize their go-to-market strategies; aligned commercial and operational groups around common customer goals; and driven business development and commercial resources toward markets with high-growth potential.

“Scholle IPN’s proven success in delivering turnkey packaging solutions including film, fitments, and equipment to customers makes us unique within the packaging industry. I am incredibly excited to be a part of this amazing team,” said Mr. Bushnell. “The needs of our customers have changed dramatically. With over 70 years of continuous innovation of our products and offerings, Scholle IPN has established a true leadership position in a marketplace increasingly focused on sustainable packaging solutions. I believe that inherent capability will ensure long-term success for the business and I am proud to take part in the future leadership of Scholle IPN.”
